

ROG Continues to Expand and Diversify

21 May 2015

The UK's newest, most innovative and unique train operating company continues its revolutionary journey as the only operator in the industry dedicated to the needs of the rolling stock engineering sector.

The industry's confidence in our capability, reliability and professionalism continues to grow. This month alone we have undertaken work for a number of new customers. This work includes infrastructure testing at the new Three Bridges depot for Siemens and train movements for East Midlands Trains.

We've also signed agreements to undertake locomotive hauled class 321EMU movements for Vossloh and train driver recruitment for Heathrow Express.

However, our most exciting new contract is with Bombardier. This is a three year contract to undertake locomotive hauled class 375 Electrostar train movements to both Derby and Ilford from South East Trains' Ramsgate depot.

We've already undertaken a number of these movements using class 57/3 locomotives specially equipped with compatible Dellner couplings and control system translating equipment. Using a class 57/3 locomotive negates the need for translator or barrier vehicles.

Our customer base continues to expand. The slide below captures all past and existing ROG customers.

Innovative Train Driver Assessments

ROG are taking driver assessments into the future. Using in cab AV technology, ROG are trialling Video Capture Driver Assessment (VCDA) to provide additional robustness and increased levels of detail to their competence management system (CMS).

Using the latest GoPro 4 cameras mounted on a twist-lock suction platform, the cameras capture, in high-definition detail, the drivers' actions, driving desk instrumentation detail and route information as seen by the driver. The driver delivers commentary driving throughout and this is captured by the cameras' microphone.
